Investigation Procedures Manual

Last Revised: 20 May 2019 by T. Kolankowski
Confidentiality

During the investigation, no specific information involved in the case may be made public. If information is made public, such action will be treated as a breach of confidentiality and subject to investigation and possible prosecution. After the case has concluded, the accused student is able to freely discuss the outcome of the case, however all other parties will still be bound by confidentiality.

Presumption of Innocence

Anyone under investigation by the Honor Board will not be considered in violation of the Honor System until found otherwise.
