How Do I Join?
Let us know you are interested! Sign up for information with a Brother or come to one of our recruiting events:

Wed Sep 7—Pizza Night in Hayden Lounge at 9pm

Tues Sep 13—Hang Out W/ APO in the Fielding Room (Howe Center) at 9pm

What is the Pledge Process Like?
The pledge process is a six week experience to acquaint new members with the brotherhood, teach them the rich history and values of the fraternity, and prepare them for active membership. It includes weekly meetings and active participation in brotherhood events. Hazing is not allowed, nor tolerated in APO.

New members have every opportunity to participate in brotherhood events and projects and are encouraged to run their own service and fellowship events.

We invite you to learn more about Alpha Phi Omega and become a member of our fraternity.

For more information:
Check out www.apota.org or email us at apo@stevens.edu

Email: apo@stevens.edu
Alpha Phi Omega, Service Fraternity: What is it?

Alpha Phi Omega is a National Coed Service Fraternity founded on the principles of the Boy Scouts of America. Its purpose is to develop leadership, promote friendship, and provide service.

Who Can Join?
Anyone! Alpha Phi Omega accepts men and women of all backgrounds. As a service fraternity, we do not conflict with social fraternities or sororities; whether you’re independent, Greek, commuter, dorming—all are welcome as members of Alpha Phi Omega.

Why Should I Join?
College should be more than the study of facts and figures; it should broaden your experiences, expand and test your abilities, and sharpen your skills. Alpha Phi Omega has a unique program of leadership, friendship, and service that will benefit you and enable you to help others.

Leadership
If society were composed of things — books, machines, gadgets — then a college experience consisting solely of academics would adequately prepare you for life. But society is people, and whenever people interact with each other the need for leadership arises. So, Alpha Phi Omega offers a college student the opportunity to practice and develop leadership. In addition to elected leadership, members have the opportunity to participate in seminars and workshops to further develop their skills.

Friendship
Since 1925 more than 500,000 students have chosen Alpha Phi Omega. Other organizations do service, and there are social fraternities, but no one and no organization does these things the way Alpha Phi Omega does. That is why Alpha Phi Omega is now and continues to be the nation’s largest Greek letter fraternity.

The fellowship of Alpha Phi Omega is, plainly and simply, the quality which has made us the biggest and we believe, the best collegiate organization in the world.

Service
As a National Service Fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega is the only national fraternity with service as its primary mission; this mission has four areas of focus: campus, community, nation, and members.

Service events held by this chapter include support of the homeless shelter and the local boy scout troop, participation in Habitat for Humanity, campus events such as midterm breakfast and Sleeping Bag Weekend, and campus festivals such as techfest, BOKEN, and the Arts and Music Festival.

Exciting events this past year included the Section 99 Conference on Stevens campus, a semi-formal, the awards dinner, and APO Bowl-a-thon.

For more information:
Check out www.apota.org or email us at apo@stevens.edu

We invite you to learn more about Alpha Phi Omega and become a member of our fraternity.